Airport Information

The closest airport is the Salt Lake City \(SLC\) International Airport, and the Utah Department of Health Cannon Building (Cannon Building) is located 5.8 miles from the Airport.

Transportation to/from Hotel

For the detailed information, please visit the Airport's website about the ground transportation.

Taxi rates within SLC limit are flat rate. From SLC Airport to the hotels listed on this 'guide book' should be $25 for 1-2 passengers (as of May 2017). Please note: since 2015, taxi fare is not regulated in Utah, however, Salt Lake City has set a flat rate fare system within the Salt Lake City limits. The Airport website recommends negotiating the price before you leave the airport to avoid any misunderstanding.

Utah Transit Authority (UTA) provides TRAX services that runs every 15 minutes from the Airport to Salt Lake City Downtown area for $2.50 one way. The Cannon Building is located between the Airport and Salt Lake City Downtown on the Green Line (see last page). It takes about 20 minutes (including 11 minutes walking) from the Airport using the TRAX.

From the Accreditation Coordinator:

"I would feel completely comfortable using TRAX; I would opt to use a taxi if arriving late in the evening."

Lodging Accommodation Information

The recommendation is to staying in a hotel in the Downtown area (1-3, 5, 7-8). You will have a lot more choices for evening dining. You can use TRAX Green Line (no transfer involved) to get to these hotels from Airport and/or the Cannon Building. Using the TRAX Green Line, it takes about 15 minutes from the Cannon Building to one of these Downtown hotels, and the cost is $2.50 each way.

Getting Around in Salt Lake City Downtown

For TRAX light-rail and buses, if you enter and exit within the boundaries of the Free Fare Zone, you ride free. Most of the downtown hotels on the recommended list (exception is the #6) are located within the Free Fare Zone.

History Corner - Martha Hughes Cannon (1857-1932)

Utah Department of Health's main building is named after Dr. Martha Hughes Canon. Here is her mini-bio:

- Born in Llandudno, Wales; her family converted to the new Church of the Latter Day Saints (a.k.a. Mormonism) and immigrated to Salt Lake City, Utah, when she was 4;
- Worked as a school teacher by the age of 14;
- Worked as a typesetter for the Women's Exponent, a woman-run newspaper in 1870s;
- Earned a chemistry degree from the University of Deseret
- Graduated from the University of Michigan Medical School at the age 23; one of the first women to earn an M.D.
- Additionally earned degrees in pharmacy and oratory
- Returned to Salt Lake City and became a resident physician at women-founded and operated Deseret Hospital at age 25
- Became the fourth of six wives of Mormon elder Angus Munn Cannon at age 27; polygamy was outlawed two years earlier
- Fled the country with an infant daughter and lived in several European countries to avoid being a witness against her husband and other members of the Church
- Returned to Utah and joined the formation of the Utah Equal Suffrage Association in 1896
- That same year, she became the nation's first female state senator, a Democrat, in a race against her husband, Angus Cannon, a Republican, winning by more than 2,500 votes
- During her two terms in the Utah Senate, she sponsored bills promoting:
 - Worker's rights, especially women in the work place
 - Education for the disabled
 - Created the State Board of Health
- Served on the Board of Health
- Died in 1932 at age 75

You can view a local PBS station production of her documentary by visiting the KUED website.
